MARKET REVIEW

The year 2016 turned out to be volatile and an eventful year for the bourses. Nifty rose by 2% during CY2016. The Indices witnessed dramatic movements owing to events such as "Brexit", U.S. Presidential elections and Demonetisation. On the domestic front, the passage of the constitution amendment bill in the Rajya Sabha that paved the way for GST improved sentiment. However, the unexpected act of demonetisation of high-value currency notes by the government further caused the market to pare down gains for the year.

For the fourth quarter 2016, key benchmark indices S&P BSE Sensex and Nifty 50 slipped 4.45% and 4.94% to close at 26,626.46 points and 8,185.80 points, respectively. S&P BSE Mid-Cap and S&P BSE Small-Cap fell 8.62% and 5.75%, respectively. The fall was led by government's de-monetisation move and the U.S. Federal Reserve's decision to raise key interest rates.

The quarter started on a positive note with the Indian equity market surging on account of the repo rate cut of 25 bps by the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) in its policy review held on Oct 4. The Committee also hinted at the fact that a normal monsoon could propel the growth momentum, in turn pushing agricultural growth and rural demand. India's CPI continued to improve significantly from 4.3% for Sept 2016 to 3.6% for Nov 2016, a 2 year low, led by sharp deceleration in food inflation particularly vegetables on fresh arrival of kharif crops. India's GDP growth in 2QFY17 was recorded at 7.3% YoY, slightly lower than expectations. In a surprise bold move, the Government demonetised INR500 and INR1000 notes replacing them with new high-security INR500 and INR2000 notes. Accordingly sectors which rely heavily on cash as medium of exchange - consumer discretionary, cement names and NBFCs corrected sharply. PSU Banks rallied hard on expectation of significant surge in cash deposits. Meanwhile, a global rating agency forecasted a 40 bps dip in India's growth rate to 7.2% in the second quarter of the financial year due to demonetisation. RBI kept the repo rate unchanged at 6.25% during its Dec 2016 policy meeting against wide expectations of a cut, citing the uncertainty of demonetization impact & upside risks to CPI forecast, which also hurt market sentiments. Meanwhile, the Goods and Services Tax (GST) passage itself was positive, the lack of clarity regarding GST rate for various sectors could not cheer the market.

Developed markets bourses especially in the US rose sharply during the quarter. PMI for most key geographies improved. China's Caixin manufacturing PMI for Oct 2016 surprised positively at 51.2, a 26 month high. Eurozone CPI for Oct 2016 stood at a 27 month high and Eurozone PMI for Oct 2016 also positively surprised at 53.5, a 32 month high. Mr. Donald Trump won the 2016 Presidential Election, with Republicans controlling both House and Senate. The President's plan for fiscal stimulus with a US$550bn infrastructure boosts leading to a broad based rally in global markets and a rally in commodity prices. Crude oil prices rose during the quarter wherein OPEC, Russia and other Non-OPEC nations decided to reduce production improve the demand supply balance.. The US Fed raised interest rates in its policy meeting. The Fed commentary turned hawkish with some of the high frequency economic growth indicators surprising on the upside (including GDP, factory orders, PMI, nonfarm payrolls). As indicated in its earlier policy meeting, the ECB agreed to add more than half a trillion Euros to its bond-buying program and extend it until at least the end of 2017.

On the BSE sectoral front, barring S&P BSE Oil & Gas and S&P BSE Metal, all the indices closed in the red. S&P BSE Realty was the major laggard, down 16.42%, followed by S&P BSE Consumer Durables and S&P BSE Healthcare, which slipped 10.45% and 8.98%, respectively. Selling pressure was witnessed in IT stocks following U.S. President-elect's comment on U.S. visas.

Outlook:

The demonetization move may continue to hurt growth for a few more months in consumer oriented sectors. The demonetization would in the medium to long term lead to a more healthy economy (productive due to higher proportion of digital transactions and cleaner economy with reduced corruption and black money) and provide a platform for structural growth. Globally the investor sentiments will continue to be swayed by concerns on sustainability of recovery in US and China and drive the market volatility in near term. Indian markets too will move in sync with global markets in the short term. However, over the medium to long term, Indian economic growth and earnings will drive Indian markets more than global issues.

Going ahead, there are sufficient catalysts for domestic economy to gain momentum and potential for a further uptrend in the equity markets

- 1) Increased Rural spending and Social Capex can boost rural consumption
- 2) Increased thrust on infrastructure spends (Rail, Road, Power)
- 3) Domestic markets have seen earnings downgrade over the last two years. Overall business fundamentals have improved over the past year and we expect healthy earnings growth in FY18, partly aided by a favorable base.
- 4) The US economy looks set for higher infrastructure spends with new President focusing on domestic economy. This will reduce concerns about global growth and markets.
- 5) Other Central banks viz, ECB and BoJ continue to pump in fresh liquidity via their respective asset purchase programs which is expected to revive growth and also maintain liquidity in markets.

Quarter ending December 2016 proved to an eventful one, marked by multiple events that shall shape the economic landscape of both the Indian and the global economy. On the domestic front, we had demonetization of large denomination (Rs500 and Rs1000) notes effective from Nov 9, 2016. As on that date these higher denomination notes accounted for 85.2% of total currency in circulation. This resulted in significant disruption in economic activity with the common populace looking to deposit old notes with the banking channels. The resultant growth shock and expectation of higher structural demand by banks for government securities (in lieu of SLR maintenance) resulted in sharp drop in bond yields to multi year lows. The 10Y yield dropped 60 bps to touch 6.18% on account of the huge surplus liquidity in the system.

Headline CPI inflation dipped sharply in last quarter, led by a large dip in food inflation in vegetables and pulses. However, core inflation was stable during the period.

The market reversed part of its gains after the RBI maintain status-quo in its December policy. Markets consensus expectation was for a 25 bps rate cut. The Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) retained its March end consumer price index target at 5% while flagging upside risks to inflation. The Committee acknowledged the recent cooling in headline CPI inflation due to lower food prices, while stating core inflation has been rather immune to this downward impulse. While the MPC noted that demonetization is likely to lead to a further 10-15 bps drop in inflation, a host of factors - crude prices, financial market developments (via exchange rate channel) and 7th Pay Commission awards might lead to an upward push.

On the global front, the US Federal Reserve raised interest rate target range by 25 bps to 0.50%-0.75%. The Fed noted the moderate pace of expansion in economic activity, while mentioning solid job gains and a decline in the unemployment rate. The Fed also cited an increase in inflation as well as market-based measures of inflation compensation. Inflation is expected to move to the 2% target in the medium term as transitory impact of declines in energy prices and non-energy import prices dissipate. Risks to the outlook were still judged as roughly balanced. The stance of monetary policy continued to remain accommodative.

More importantly, Mr. Donald J. Trump was elected as the 45th President of the United States in a tight electoral race. Donald Trump's presidency potentially means greater policy uncertainty, fiscal reflation and possible disruptions in global trade. Since the election outcome, US bond yields have moved up sharply in anticipation of fiscal reflationary policies replacing monetary accommodation to spur growth.

Outlook

Going forward, we expect Indian bond yields to remain range-bound with a bullish bias. Key triggers shall be how President Trump policies shape up and likely RBI interest rate cuts in upcoming policy meetings. Domestic inflation outlook remains benign while the economy continues to recover steadily from the demonetization shock. Continued progress on the medium term fiscal consolidation path and implementation of Goods and Services Tax reform are significant positive triggers for bond markets. On the global front, the trajectory of rate hikes by Federal Reserve and economic policies of President Trump shall also shape the investor sentiment. Given current growth-inflation dynamics, we expect RBI to reduce interest rates by 25-50bps. However, further uptick in global crude oil prices pose upside risks to our inflation assessment.
